REVENUE FARMS IN THE STATE OF NORTH BORNEO.

1. In making arrangements for the leasing of the Farms for the next Farm period of 1910, 1911 and 1912, the Government reserves to itself the right of vesting the Farms (as provided in the Proclamations concerned as named in Schedule A appended) in any person, by public or private sale as may be thought fit.

Subject to the above reservation it is hereby notified that tenders will be received at the Office of the Secretary to the Governor, Sandakan, up to 12 o'clock noon, on the 1st day of October, 1909, for the purchase of the exclusive privileges of the Farms described below for a period of one, two or three years commencing on the 1st January, 1910.

2. Any person either for himself alone or for himself and others, may, either in person or by agent duly accredited in writing, on any date prior to the said noon of the 1st October next, submit to the said Secretary at Sandakan, any tender he may think fit for all or any of the Farms, provided such tender is in conformity with the terms of tendering hereinafter set out and fulfils all the conditions required of the Farmer.

All tenders so made will (except at the express wish of the tenderer to the contrary) be received and treated by the Government as strictly confidential.

On receiving any such tender, Government reserves to itself the right of deciding whether it shall be considered or not.

3. Government decides not to consider the tender, it will be returned to the tenderer under sealed cover.

All tenders accepted for consideration by Government will be, in the first instance, retained by Government for further consideration with the tenders handed in on 1st October, 1909, which will be opened at noon on that date, after which the successful tenderer will be selected.

4. The attention of those desirous of tendering is drawn to the following terms:—

(a) The tenderer must state in his tender the annual sum offered for the Farm rent for the three years 1910, 1911 and 1912: a different sum may be offered for the first, second and third years respectively. The tenderer must also clearly state the proportion of the amount Rent to be allotted to each separate Farm.

(e) Copies of the Forms of Contracts for the Farms may be seen on application at the Office of the said Secretary, at Sandakan, or of Messrs. Guthrie & Co., at Singapore, or of Messrs. Gibb, Livingston & Co., at Hongkong.

(f) The successful tenderer will be required to deposit with the Finance Commissioner, Sandakan, security to the value of three months' Farm rent by means of a deposit of money to the amount of one month's Farm rent, and of title deeds to the amount of two months' Farm rent.

(i) During the continuance of the Farm period, the Opium and Spirit Farmer will be entitled to the use of a Trade-mark (to be approved by Government) to be affixed to any Opium or Chandu prepared by them, and to any vessel containing Spirits for sale.

(j) As soon as the new Farmers have been appointed by the Governor, they will be required to submit in writing to the Secretary to the Governor at Sandakan a Schedule showing full particulars as to the Title Deeds they propose to deposit with the Government as security for the said two months' Farm rent. ### THE JAPAN SUGAR COMPANY SCANDAL.

RESUMPTION OF TRIAL.

PLEAS OF THE ACCUSED.

The hearing of the charges against persons connected with the Dai Nippon Sugar Refinery Company scandal was resumed on Saturday morning, the 5th instant, in Tokyo. As before, the court-room was crowded early, more seeking admission than could be accommodated. The pleas advanced by the accused in extenuation of their conduct in accepting bribes were interesting. Supported by their huge array of lawyers, most of the accused seemed to be in the best of humour.

Mr. Hasegawa Toyokichi was first called, but on the application of Counsel his examination was postponed after the Court had ascertained from him that he had been sentenced to imprisonment on March 8th, 1892, on a charge of having stolen trees in a certain Government forest.

Mr. Imada Kamekato (a legal adviser to the Dai Nippon Sugar Company), who is charged with having assisted in bribing the members of the Diet, was then examined on a charge of presenting Mr. Matsura Gobei, a Constitutional member of the Diet, with a cheque for ¥5,000 at the Takafuku, a tea house, in February last. This fact was admitted by the accused.

Mr. Matsura was next called, and denied having received a cheque for ¥5,000 as alleged.

YEAR-END PRESENTS.

The Court asked whether he did not canvass his colleagues in the Diet to support the Sugar Duty Reimbursement Bill at the request of Isomura and Akiyama, directors of the company. The accused replied that he was not so powerful a member to the Diet as to be entrusted with such a mission. The Court further asked whether he did not receive money in an envelope, to which the accused replied that he had received "a year-end present." The amount was ¥500. At that time, observed the Judge, accused's relations with Isomura and Akiyama were not so close as to justify such a present. The accused smiled.

Mr. Kurihara, one of the Constitutional leaders, was next called. The Court asked whether he was accustomed to receiving gifts of money at the end of every half-year from Akiyama and others as private individuals he received ¥100 or ¥200 in cash each time.

The Court asked whether accused did not receive ¥3,000 from Akiyama at his (accused's) house in March, 1908, to which the accused replied that he did not remember having received the money as alleged. As a matter of fact, added Mr. Kurihara, he borrowed ¥3,000 for his election expenses, and for this he issued a promissory note, though he did not affix any stamp or seal (jiritsu). In the 24th session of the Diet (1907-8), he opposed the adoption of the Sugar Monopoly, so that there could be no reason to suspect him of having received a bribe in this connection. It was towards the end of the 24th session of the Diet that he borrowed the money from Akiyama. This fact would distinctly show that the loan was in no way connected with the company. He supported the Bill for the extension of the term of the Sugar Duty Reimbursement Law in conformity with his political views maintained for many years, and not in compliance with the request of Akiyama or the other directors of the company. He flatly denied having borrowed ¥3,000 before the general election last year.

REWARD FOR PERSONAL CONNECTION.

Mr. Morimoto Shun was the next to be examined. On being asked regarding his relations with the Dai Nippon Sugar Refinery Company, the accused said that he was not a shareholder of the company. He became acquainted with Akiyama about 1900. The Court asked whether accused received presents at the end of every half-year. The accused replied he had received a present, but not as a regular practice. He did not remember what amount he had received. After further questions and answers, the Court asked why, if he was not connected with the company in any way, he was in the habit of receiving presents half-yearly. Accused said it was owing to his personal connection with Akiyama.

Examined on the charge that he had received ¥2,000 from Mr. Akiyama by way of bribery, the accused stated that he recalled receiving ¥2,000. Akiyama brought the money as a mark of appreciation for the services rendered to him. Accused had no reason for receiving such a present, so he refused the money, but Akiyama strongly persuaded him to receive it, and he accordingly accepted it as a loan. He did not, however, draw up a loan note.

The Court asked whether he did not borrow money for election expenses and for a journey, to America. The accused replied in the affirmative, added that he had given loan notes for the money so borrowed. Asked why he had not given a loan note for the ¥2,000 he had received, the accused hesitated and then said that he might have given a loan note for that sum also. After some further explanations, the accused remarked that he was not a man of such a low character as to receive money in the circumstances mentioned in the verdict of the preliminary examination. With these words the accused looked up at the presiding judge, and Prosecutor Minamitani smiled.

¥20,000 FOR ADVOCATING A PROTECTIONIST POLICY.

Mr. Usui Teppo, a leader of the Daiido Club, was then called. Mr. Usui is charged with having received ¥20,000 which he claims to have devoted all to his own purposes. In answer to questions by the Court, the accused deposed that he had met Akiyama twice during the 23rd session of the Diet, as far as his memory carried him. He was not introduced by any one. Akiyama came to his house to inquire regarding his view on the Sugar Duty Reimbursement Bill, and he (the accused) told Akiyama that the protection of the industry was on the programme of the Daiido Club and that as the reimbursement of duty on sugar was intended to protect the sugar industry, he would support the Bill. He was not asked by Akiyama to persuade other members to support the Bill.

Proceeding to the examination of the circumstances in which the accused was alleged to have received the ¥20,000, the Court asked whether Akiyama had brought ¥20,000 to accused's house in February last. Usui hesitatingly replied in the affirmative. Asked what Akiyama said when he brought the money, the accused replied: "I think another man came with Akiyama. In the interview I dwelt on the merits of the protectionist policy. An increase in the national wealth would call for industrial development, and it was necessary to establish a protective policy for the development of industry. Akiyama and his companions admired my views and were highly satisfied. They said that I must be right. Then I told them that it was a mistake for business men to stand outside politics. They said they would secure seats in the Diet at the next general election, and asked me to assist them to do so. When leaving my house, they left a parcel, asking me to use it in the propagation of a protectionist policy. They said not a word about any token of thanks for my services in favour of the adoption of the Sugar Duty Reimbursement Bill. I think they left the money for propagandist purposes. After they had gone, I opened the parcel and found ¥20,000 in it."

Were you not asked by Akiyama before the adoption of the bill to work for its passage through the Diet?—No, not at all.

Did you not tell Akiyama before the adoption of the Bill that you would manage to induce the Daiido Club to support the Bill?—No, I did not.

Did you not distribute or lend the ¥20,000 you received among the members of the Club?—No, I did not.

This concluded the examination of Mr. Usui, and a recess was taken for fifteen minutes.

In the afternoon Mr. Nishimura and other Progressives were to be examined, but their examination was postponed on the application of Counsel, and it was decided to deal with the matter of the ¥30,000 alleged to have been paid in connection with the Sugar Monopoly question.

Mr. Imada, a canvasser of the company, was examined regarding the operations of the company to influence the members of the Diet. The accused stated that the adoption of a Sugar Monopoly was the ambition of the company, which appointed a committee of five members to put the scheme into practice and in December 1907 he presented ¥30,000 to Messrs. Matsura and Sawada (Constitutionalist members).

At this point the Presiding Judge asked if he did not meet other members of the Diet besides Messrs. Matsura and Sawada regarding the Sugar Monopoly question. The accused replied that towards the end of February 1908, he had met Matsura, Ogino, and Yushiyue. Mr. Yokota Torihiko was the only member besides the Constitutionalist whom he had seen.

¥300,000 FOR A SUGAR MONOPOLY.

Mr. Esaki Riji, one of the principal shareholders, who is accused of having assisted the company in bribing the members of the Diet was next examined. Mr. Esaki deposed that one night in December 1907 he was invited to see Isomura at the house of his concubine. In the course of the interview he was told by Isomura that the company was ready to pay money in connection with the Sugar Monopoly question, and was asked to canvass the Constitutionalist. He received ¥30,000 to be presented to Matsura and Sawada, together with a draft of a memorandum containing a promise to pay ¥300,000 to the Constitutionalist party in the event of the Sugar Monopoly Bill being passed. Imada made a clean copy of the memorandum at his house and handed it to Matsura and Sawada together with ¥30,000 through Nakamura Chushichi. The promise to pay ¥300,000 to the Constitutionalist party was conditional—the sum was to be paid if the Government took over the company at the price of about ¥28,000,000 (shareholders to receive 7 per cent. in Government bonds). The memorandum was written over the signatures of Imada and himself (Esaki) on behalf of the shareholders and was addressed to the headquarters of the Constitutionalist party.

The Presiding Judge, with a smile, asked if the shareholders did not hold a meeting and adopt a resolution not to organise a movement for the adoption of the Sugar Monopoly—that is, did they not meet at the house of Baron Shibatawa and adopt the resolution? The accused replied that the resolution might have been adopted deliberately in order to conceal the fact that the company was canvassing members of the Diet for the adoption of sugar monopoly.

On being asked whether he did not try to influence other members of the Diet besides the Constitutionalist, the accused stated that he, together with Ito Moichichi (a director of the company), visited Mr. Kato Masanosuke, a Progressive, at his house. Mr. Kato refused the request to work for the adoption of the Monopoly, saying that he would not concern himself in such a matter. On the way home they called upon Mr. Naito Rihachi, a Progressive, at his hotel, and told him that he might want money for the purpose of inducing some members to support the Bill and asked how much he wanted. Mr. Naito refused to receive any money, saying that had he any necessity of paying money, he would present them with an account.

Mr. Nakamura Ohushi was the last person examined. He stated that he had taken a sum of money to his trunk. He (Nakamura) had destroyed the memorandum promising to pay ¥300,000.

The proceedings were then adjourned to the 14th instant.—Japan Chronicle.

AMENDING THE OPIUM ORDINANCE.
From the discussion which arose at the meeting of the Legislative Council yesterday, over the Bill to amend the Prepared Opium Ordinance, it will be recognised that we are now within measurable distance of the date when the question of ways and means to make good the loss sustained by the Colony as the result of the policy adopted by the Imperial Government in regard to opium will occupy the first place in the consideration of those responsible for the financial safety of Hongkong. Up to the present time, the principal matter at issue has been the sincerity of China in dealing with the opium trade of the Empire, and her ability to accomplish all that she has undertaken in the way of suppressing the trade. Remark has also been made regarding the advocates of coercive measures to restrict the importation, sale and use of the drug, their whole-hearted denunciation of a trade of which they can only speak as a rule from hearsay and garbled reports, but now we seem to have passed that stage and come down to the bedrock. The pith of the matter as it applies to Hongkong is simply a question of economics, how the Colony is to meet the loss in revenue sustained by the adoption of measures which have been dictated by the Imperial Government, and what outside help we may expect from those disinterested legislators at Westminster who have identified themselves with the campaign against the opium trade? When the second reading of the Bill to amend the Prepared Opium Ordinance was submitted to the Legislative Council yesterday, Mr. Murray Stewart, as representing the entire unofficial section, entered a strong, trenchant and well-balanced protest against the Bill, on the ground that, so far, no indication has been given of what the Imperial Government intend to do in the way of assisting the Colony when its revenues have been depleted by the loss of income from the opium trade both directly and indirectly. There is not the slightest doubt that the members of the Council were being asked to vote in the dark. The probable effects of this legislation cannot be estimated. From what His Excellency the Governor and the Attorney-General said, the Bill is merely a kite flown to discover the direction of the wind—when the opium restrictions come into force. The whole point of Mr. Murray Stewart's admirable speech was directed to the interpretation of the sentence in the Secretary of State's despatch running as follows: "When the time arrives His Majesty's Government on their part will be prepared to ask Parliament to give a substantial contribution towards making good to the Colony the revenue which is found to have been lost as the direct result of measures adopted under their instructions." What does the Secretary of State mean when he speaks of a "substantial contribution"? and for how long will that substantial contribution endure? "In striving to be generous to China the Imperial Government should not overlook Hongkong's just claims to considerate treatment." Consideration of the difficulty of our position should assume tangible shape. The Colony is being coerced into accepting as cover for a certain loss an indefinite promise. It seems neither reasonable nor right to force such a bargain upon us. Let the Imperial Government, through your Excellency, admit us to a full knowledge of our financial prospects. Let them tell us exactly what they are prepared to do; let them state plainly what proportion, if not the whole, of our prospective loss they intend to accept, and then let them ask us to pass this Bill. Surely that was a reasonable demand to make and it was supported by every unofficial member at the Council table. One and all made it clear that they were not opposed to the scheme which has for its object the weaning of China from the opium habit. On the contrary, they expressed their sympathy with the scheme in considered language, but that sympathy must always be tempered by local considerations. Every sensible man realises that it is impossible to divorce the financial aspect from the moral. We in Hongkong are being asked, or should we not rather say required, to give up a valuable asset for a shadowy, quid pro quo. That is where the shoe pinches, although it is conceivable that most of those composing the anti-opium brigade are incapable of placing themselves in the position of residents in Hongkong. We can judge roughly what the direct loss to the annual revenue will be when opium as an article of commerce disappears from the market, but the indirect results of the legislation proposed are beyond calculation. It was only reasonably to suppose, that the Secretary of State for the Colonies might be induced to give some idea of the extent to which the Imperial Government would be inclined to help Hongkong through its financial slough. There is nothing to show that when the vote proposing to give Hongkong a grant-in-aid is submitted to Parliament for approval it will be passed as a matter of course. Parliament may say: "We have nothing to do with vague promises made by Secretaries of State," and what remedy is then left for the plight in which Hongkong will be stranded? We will simply have to suffer in silence and if possible console ourselves with the reflection that we are martyrs in a good cause, while those who have done all the spoiling at the expense of others will take all the kudos. Probably, the official deserving of most sympathy at this juncture is His Excellency the Governor. In theory His Excellency has a comparatively free hand in the administration of the Colony, but in actual practice the Home Government's views must always prevail. How could it be expected that His Excellency would agree with the unofficial members as to the indefiniteness of the language used by the Secretary of State when he wrote that Parliament would be asked to make a substantial grant-in-aid of any loss directly incurred? His Excellency could only suggest that it was impossible to conceive that Parliament would fail to implement the promise made by the Secretary of State—which, of course, is merely a pious expression of trust in the good faith of Parliament. But, nowadays, Parliament knows little about the Crown Colonies and cares less and when Chancellors of the Exchequer find it necessary to economise to the last copper it is just possible that another occupant of the post of Secretary of State for the Colonies may fall to convince the Chancellor that the "promise" of his predecessor was more than windy talk. His Excellency astutely left that point to show that the Imperial Government had been most considerate in the matter of the closing of opium divans, but that was beside the question. What the unofficial members wanted to know was the proportion of compensation that might be expected from the Imperial Government when the opium trade has been crushed. And when we come to look at the phrases used by His Excellency in urging members to pass this Bill we confess there seems reason to believe that His Excellency himself is not over-confident that the Imperial Government may not try to wriggle out of its obligations to this Colony. For example the Governor said: "His Majesty's Government have stated that they will make good a substantial part of the loss which is the direct result of carrying out their policy. We should be perfectly certain that what we are doing here is part of that policy, and that is the reason why I think it is of great importance that this Bill should be passed, and shall have the sanction of His Majesty's Government, so that any loss which may arise out of the operation of this Bill may fall within the terms of loss incurred by carrying out the policy of the Imperial Government." In other words the Council must bind the Imperial Government hand and foot if the Secretary of State's promise to make representations to Parliament for a grant-in-aid is to be made effective. Of course, all the official members were ranged on one side and all the unofficials on the other. Mr. Hewitt's amendment to shelve the Bill by postponing the second reading for six months was lost by seven votes to six. Observe, the vote was on the amendment—not on the motion that the Bill should be read a second time. We believe that May's Parliamentary Practice lays down the principle that the amendment in such case having failed the Council must be called upon to vote on the substantive motion. This was not done, and so far as we can see the Bill as it stands has not passed the second reading. Nevertheless, the Council went into Committee on the Bill and afterwards resumed. If it be a fact that the substantive motion should have been put—and it certainly was not—then the failure to do so violates the rest of the proceedings on the Bill, a condition of things which might not be regretted by certain members of the community although it would be decidedly embarrassing for the Government.

THE CALLOUS COOLIE.
It is one of the trials of a weak and morbid humanity that even the most sedate of us is liable at times to become the unwilling butt of a bantering crowd who see in our mishaps the richest humour and indulge in the most hysterical mirth at our expense. Of course their day will come; be sure of that, but there is little consolation in that at the moment. The individual who executes a double somersault on a tray of plates or orange peel or inadvertently walks into the harbour in full dress can seldom understand why the onlookers should rock themselves into an apoplectic fit on his account. But let the tables be turned and it is wonderful how the viewpoint changes. Of all people, however, who can accept a ludicrous situation with equanimity there is none who can approach the Chinese coolie and in spite of fearful odds he will pursue the even tenor of his way as if nothing had happened. A correspondent witnessed what must have been a quaint and comical scene on the Peak Tramway the other day—that is to say there was a subtle humour in it for those who were not concerned with the result. One of the numerous coolies who bring tiffin to town for their masters became so engrossed in an argument with his fellows that he forgot the presence of the arrangement of tins of which he was in charge. In the enthusiasm of the moment he seems to have delivered the stand a tremendous bump with the result that the complete outfit landed on the track. Perhaps we have got the details a trifle tangled but let that pass. The fact remains that the varied contents were mixed up in a glorious hotch-potch, while the grave manhood gently down the slope into a neighbouring nullah. Was that coolie dismayed? Not a bit of it. He valiantly set to work and raked up by the handful the odd fragments of beef and chicken and fish in one grand olla podrida and deposited the mess with care in equal proportions in the different cans. We have often wondered whether, when the feast of leaves and fishes was over, the disciples rammed bread-crumbs and fish bones biggely-piggely into one and the same basket or divided them neatly like a conscientious maid servant. Now we know. They followed the example of the Chinese coolie on the Peak Tramway. Each can contained an equal proportion of fish, flesh and chicken, with gravel, sand and stinky water as condiments. Most of the spectators of the incident enjoyed it as an impromptu farce, but there were many melancholy and disgusted countenances there. For the rapidity with which the scattered food was swept up showed that the houseboy was an adept at the business. The accident was not unexpected nor was he in a quandary when it occurred. It may be assumed that the consumer of these savoury viands which had picked up an extra flavour from the tramway track wondered what had happened to the cook, but it is just possible that he noticed nothing. Perhaps an occasional jump of grit led him to use an exceptional expletive, but few of us out in the Far East can afford to be superfluous in our tastes or over-curious as to the culinary practices of our servants. The incident which our correspondent describes as repulsive is not cited because it is unusual, for the reverse is the case. Daily similar sights are to be witnessed in the House Road, and there is one particular spot which has to be repaired every week by the P. W. D. owing to the indentations caused by the careless dropping of heavy weights—plum puddings, it is presumed by the vulgar. Does anybody suggest that it is possible to educate the coolies to understand that the average European would prefer to miss his tiffin rather than regale himself on the off-scurings of the city streets? Of course everything is possible, but for how long would the coolie remember his lesson? As we all know, it is the lot of each one of us to consume a ton of dirt in the course of a lifetime. Some of us manage to put away a larger amount according to circumstances, but let us call it a ton on the average. Well, it really matters very little whether we take it by the peck or the bushel, and if the coolie helps to keep us well supplied he is only acting as the unconscious medium of a beneficent providence. Still, with regard to the incident which we have related, we feel that the curtain was rung down before the principal act was played. What would we not have given to see the face of the party for whom that unlucky tiffin was intended when he found that each of the three tins containing his repast was equally filled with a like conglomeration of fish, chicken, meat, sand and greasy water? That repast was indeed rich in variety, a collation recherché in the truest sense of the term.

ADVANCING civilisation is bringing increased insanity in Japan, according to Dr. K. Saito, director of the Aoyama hospital for the insane in Tokyo. "Fifty years ago," Dr. Saito is reported to have said, "insanity in Japan was very rare. Thirty years ago it began to increase, and after the Sino-Japanese war, there was further increase. The increase was even more marked after the war with Russia. I believe that as civilisation advances in Japan, insanity becomes more general, due to the struggle for existence."

THE Kobe Herald is informed that Mr. Guo, H. Scidmore, now American Consul at Nagasaki, has been appointed to Kobe, and that his place at the southern port will be taken by Mr. C. F. Deichmann, now Consul at Tamsui, Formosa. Mr. Scidmore will enter upon his duties at Kobe about August 1.

THE Asahi publishes a Vladivostok message stating that the Financial Committee in the Imperial Duma has adopted a Government Bill to impose a poll tax on all Chinese and Korean labourers arriving in Siberia. The Committee has decided to leave the question of the employment of foreign labourers on Government works to the discretion of the Governor-General of the Far Eastern Provinces for one year longer.

At the Police Court, this morning, a Chinese broker was convicted of the larceny of a number of valuable Chinese pictures. The pictures, which were valued at nearly $800, were given to the defendant to sell on commission. This was some days ago. When he was asked for the pictures yesterday, defendant confessed that he had pawned them for $20. He was sentenced by Mr. Hazeland to two months' hard labour.

An inquiry was held at the Magistracy this afternoon surrounding the circumstances of the death of an Indian watchman, by name Makin Shah, who died in the Victoria Gaol this morning. The deceased was admitted to Victoria Gaol several days ago, having been sent to prison for a month for an assault committed at Shau-ki-wan. His death was the result of fatty degeneration of the heart. The jury returned a verdict of death from natural causes.

It has been proposed for some time past to make macadamised roads in the Shanghai native city and to open more city gates leading to them. In response to a representation from the Shanghai Taotai, Viceroy Tuan Fang has given permission for two additional gates to the Shanghai city to be opened which will be known as the Little North and the Little West Gates; the Viceroy recommends that careful surveys be made by the Magistrate in concert with the gentry, and further that the work should be commenced as soon as possible.

NEWS has reached Osaka that the Tamon-maru No. 9, a steamer owned by Mr. Yatsuma, of Nishinomiya, whilst on her way from Tsingtau to Shanghai with a full cargo of salt and coal, stranded at the mouth of the Yangtze on Wednesday morning, the 2nd instant. The steamer, which has a gross tonnage of 3,418, is the Japan Chronicle understands, insured for ¥100,000 with the Japan Marine Insurance Company, and the policy expired on the 3rd instant. The vessel, however, was insured against total loss, so that if the steamer can be got off, the insurance company will not be held responsible for the payment of the risk. The possibility of getting the steamer off is not yet known.

HONGKONG BANKNOTES.

SHOP COOLIE SENT TO GAOL FOR UTTERING.

The June Criminal Sessions was opened by the Chief Justice (Sir Francis Piggott) in the Supreme Court, this morning. The first case to come up for trial was that in which a man named Chung H. J., a shop coolie, was charged with passing off a forged $50 banknote, drawn on the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China, and also with being in possession of another counterfeit bill.

Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., Attorney-General, with whom was Mr. H. L. Donny, of the Crown Solicitor's office, prosecuted. The prisoner was undefended.

The following were the jurors empanelled:—Messrs. G. P. Currie, K. Deane, E. F. Aucott, Salvadoro Musso, W. E. G. Jones, Alexander Davidson, and H. E. Desebrock.

The facts of the case, as they were outlined by the Attorney-General, were to the effect that the prisoner on the night of the 17th May last went to a certain cinematograph show and, going up to the box office, called for two fifty-cent tickets, for which he tendered a $10 note. A Mr. Solomon, who was in the ticket office, examined the note carefully and, discovering it to be a forgery, asked the prisoner from where he got the bill. Thereupon prisoner turned tail and fled. He was pursued and captured. Sir Henry observed that the prisoner was a business man and it may be supposed that he knew the note was forged. The question the jury had to decide was whether by the prisoner's conduct, and the evidence, he was guilty.

The cashier of the Chartered Bank was shown the banknote and he pronounced it a forgery. The defendant said that he got the bill in the course of his business in the country.

A unanimous verdict of guilty was returned by the jury and sentence of two years' hard labour was passed.

A STRIKE OF CABIN EMPLOYEES.

INCIDENT AT MARSEILLES.

At Marseilles a strike, which has happily been smoothed over for the present, broke out among the waiters, stewards, cooks, and other cabin employees of five steamers on the pretext that the companies neglected to give them their weekly day of rest provided by the French law. The Touraine, a mail packet, belonging to the Messageries Maritimes, was about to sail for China with many passengers on board, when all the waiters and employees struck just as luncheon was about to be served. Many passengers already sat at the tables when the waiters left them. The cooks took the meat out of the ovens and the saucers off the fire when the food was "on the point" of being cooked. There was great dissatisfaction among the passengers, who were deprived of their meal. The company's agent had a conversation with the men, and after two hours they returned on board. The steamer finally sailed several hours late, and the passengers, it is said, held a meeting on board, at which they decided not to pay any tips during the voyage.

HONGKONG TENDER REJECTED.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Manila, 17th June, 9.5 p.m.

The bids, which were opened on the 1st inst., for a sea-going tug for the Philippines, and taken under advisement by the Chief Quarter-master of the Division, have been rejected.

In reference to the tenders alluded to in the foregoing telegram, our Manila correspondent wrote under date 2nd inst., as follows:—

Much interest was evinced in the Quarter-master's Department on the 1st inst., when bids for the building of a sea-going tug for that department were opened. It was known that, as usual, Shanghai and Hongkong would be keen competitors for the award of the contract. When it was whispered that a local firm would also endeavour to put in a successful bid the interest in the friendly contest became more greatly intensified. As it happened when the tenders were opened the only firm offering to build an entirely new boat, according to specifications, was:—

The Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd., which offered to construct a tug for the exclusive price of.....$44,100 (gold)
The Shanghai Dock and Engineering Co., Ltd., made the offer of the tug Samsui for $38,000 (gold)
While the Atlantic Gulf and Pacific Co. will accept for their Robert K a sum of.....$50,000 (gold)
The Robert K, it may be mentioned, is now in Manila waters and lying behind the Breakwater. At this writing, no award has yet been made, and it is uncertain which firm's offer will be accepted by the Chief Quarter-master of the Division.

MUJINY AT DAVAO.

OFFICER ATTACKED AND WOUNDED.

The second company of Constabulary stationed at Davao mutinied on the night of June 6, reports the Manila Times. The mutineers first attacked their officers and wounded Third Lieutenant De Goicoechea. Governor Walker rallied the Americans in a church which was hastily made as defensible as possible. The mutineers attacked the church at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of June 7 and the fight lasted for over three hours. It is not yet clear whether the attack was beaten off by the spirited defence of Walker and his volunteers or the attackers were frightened by the approach of another company of Constabulary from Mati, which hurried to the defence of Davao, but during the night the mutineers fled to the mountain taking thirty rifles with them. Detachments of the 23rd United States Infantry have been hurried into Davao and they are on the ground. They have restored order in Davao and are preparing to move out in pursuit of the mutineers.

Only one American, a man named Libby, was killed, and only four were slightly wounded. It is presumed that Libby fell in the defence of the church where the Americans rallied, because such fighting as occurred took place in the town of Davao. It is also believed that the four men mentioned were hit during the fight at the church.

Full details of the affair have not been received here but they are hourly expected. The first news reached here a noon on Sunday in a dispatch from Governor Hoyt of the Moro province at Zamboanga. Davao asking for assistance, dispatched a steamer to Zamboanga and it appears to have reached there on Saturday. Colonel Hoyt at once sent a company of the 23rd Infantry and arranged to hurry other companies of the same regiment to Davao.

The officials here are absolutely in the dark as to the cause of the petty revolt but presume that it lies in some question of the management of the company, either food, or the care of the women of the families of the men. The company always bore a very fair reputation, and at the inspection made by General Bandholtz commanding the Constabulary, only a few hours before the murderous attack on the officers, it was found in very satisfactory condition. The men are Visayans.

Colonel Hoyt's telegram says that the attack was made at 10 o'clock at night and after the wounding of Dr. Goicoechea there appears to have followed a period of indecision, which gave the Americans time to make plans for defence. The church used by Governor Walker is evidently the wooden structure erected a couple of years ago by the Roman Catholic missionaries. It is not a particularly strong building but the official dispatch indicates that Walker and his party had nearly all of the 7th put in condition for defence.

The identity of Mr. Libby, who was killed, is not yet clear. There are two brothers of the name at Davao and one of them, Percy C. Libby, is the manager of the plantation of Mr. E. M. Barton of the Bay View Hotel, Manila. Percy Libby's younger brother joined him at Davao ten months ago and has since been working with him. One or the other is the man killed in the fighting of the 7th.

News of the mutiny and attack was received here with painful surprise but it seems absolutely certain that the affair is an isolated one and that the rank and file of the Constabulary throughout the country are quite as loyal and law abiding as they ever were. The fact that the Mail company hurried to the relief of Davao shows that it was not a party to any general conspiracy. It will necessarily be much less anxious in other isolated districts which rely on the Constabulary for protection but there is really nothing to indicate that the spirit of revolt taints any save this single company, which made a foolish but murderous attack.

When the community is advised of the facts there will be a general demand for the punishment and capture of the last one of the mutineers, whatever the demand upon our resources may be.

"Fatshan" Incident.

MEETING OF SELF-GOVERNMENT SOCIETY.

INFLAMMATORY SPEECHES DELIVERED.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

Canton, 17th June.

At 1 p.m. yesterday, a meeting was held by the Canton Self-Government Society in connection with the alleged murder of a Chinese passenger on board the steamer Fatshan, when there was present a considerable number of people of all classes. Mr. Chan Wai Po, was elected Chairman. Mr. Chan and several other gentlemen made fiery speeches in regard to the unfortunate occurrence with a view to arousing the feelings of those present. After considerable discussion as to how to approach the Portuguese Consul for his delay in settling the case, and the alleged remarks which he is reported to have made defaming the members of the Society and the Chinese people, a resolution was passed that a letter should be forwarded to the Portuguese Consul asking him for a reply in three days time giving satisfactory explanation. At the same time, the Viceroy should be petitioned to urge the Consul to hold the Court of Inquiry without delay. In the event of the Consul failing to answer within the specified time, the Society will convene another mass meeting to discuss the question again.

It is to be regretted that the Fatshan incident, which to all intents and purposes seemed to have been dropped altogether, no similar meetings having taken place during the last few months, has now once more been revived. The reason that has led the Society to stir up the feelings of the people concerning the incident is not known and the result of this latest move on the part of the Self-Government Society remains to be seen.

AN ADVENTURE IN THE CHINA SEAS.

BATTLE WITH PIRATES RECALLED.

Captain George Nauton recalls in the San Francisco Chronicle the days of sailing-vessels in the Far Eastern seas, when swift schooners were engaged in the opium trade and were beset by Chinese pirates. His schooner, the Game Cock, carried two guns and a large crew, with rifles and cutlasses, to cope with these marauders. After telling how their fleet little ship showed her heels to one pirate proa, he says of another voyage:

"On this occasion we had an extra valuable cargo and specie on board, and were sailing quietly along the coast when the wind fell light, and as the weather was beautifully clear the captain determined to make a short cut through some of the islands which were very numerous in this archipelago. This was about 6 a.m., when all at once we saw an immense amount of smoke over the crest of one of the lesser islands, and concluded it must be either a village or a ship on fire. We kept off, and on rounding the point came directly in view of what had been a handsome bark; her masts and rigging were all gone, and there was little but the outside planking left. On passing her stern we could read the last four letters of her name, which appeared to have been 'rida' and 'por'. The rest was all burned away. We had barely got around the point and saw this when all at once a big piratical proa came out from another point and was making directly for us. He came so suddenly that we were caught, and before he reached us we could see there had been a bloody fight, for his sides and parts of his dirty decks gave every evidence of such. We were all alarmed, and got up our rifles in good order and called all hands aft for instructions, which had to be short and quick."

"Let every man of us pick out his man and take good aim. It is the only chance for our lives. The cook was ordered to keep a boiler full of scalding water to throw on them. On they came, and grappled our fore rigging, and hung on while they threw several of their stink-pots on board. These are most terrible things to deal with. They are pots made of clay, and filled with some chemical which suffocates any one coming near it, and the thick, yellowish-brown, noxious vapour is so thick you cannot penetrate it. The cook poured a bucket of hot water on a brute who was throwing these pots, but the fellow in desperation clambered on board with his two-edged sword to his teeth, and while the cook had just filled his bucket for another dose of scalding water, the brute clove him to the deck with one blow of his two-edged sword. Philippe, the gunner, however, had seen this, and at the same moment sent a bullet from his rifle crashing into his body. Meanwhile, we were trying to keep them from coming over the rail, and picking them off as well as we could. It is not a pleasant feeling to know that you are on the point of being butchered. The excitement gave us courage, but the stink-pots prevented us from getting forward. But there was a poor fellow in bad in the forecastle and almost in the last stage of consumption, who came up the booty hatch and called out pitifully, 'Give me a rifle! Oh give me a rifle!' We could scarcely hear him for the awful din but his To-n, our cabin boy, said he would get a rifle to Frenchy. We let him go, and he succeeded. The wind was freshening a little and blowing the fumes so that we could see forward, and we saw that the villains had cut or let our fore sheet go, and were still trying to board us forward, where there was no interruption. Frenchy came up on deck and, with the desperation of a dying man, he shot down two or three of the pirates, but one other jumped on board and cut his head nearly from his shoulders. Of course, we all made him a mark, and he fell like a log. For some inexplicable reason, or possibly because we were getting near some village or the rendezvous of the coast guard, the pirate cast off his grapple at the fore-rigging and went on his way. We now had time to breathe freely, but the captain could not refrain from firing three rounds of grape-shot from our little main-deck gun, which we had reason to believe did some execution."

CANTON DAY BY DAY.

A NEW BANKING INSTITUTION.

Canton, 17th June.

It has already been reported that a native banking corporation under the style of the Tai Shun Banking Corporation was being formed in Canton with a Capital of $50,000,000, to be raised in subscriptions. On the 14th instant a meeting was held for the purpose of electing a board of directors to manage the affairs of the concern. The election was conducted by poll when Mr. Chu Pak Kin secured the largest number of votes. Mr. Chu has now been appointed Chief Manager of the newly formed concern. A sub-manager and a committee were also elected at the meeting. The members elected for appointments have taken up their duties from the 16th instant.

THE FLOODS.

The Canton officials have not until now received a report from the Magistrate of the Yeung Chuen district that owing to the recent disastrous floods, great loss in lives, property, etc., has been sustained by the people of that district, and a large number of sufferers are now waiting for urgent relief. Yesterday morning the Central Relief Committee sent out the 4th party with eight hundred bags of rice and $700 in cash to the affected district on board a launch to assist the unfortunate people. On the same day the 5th party was despatched to proceed up the districts of Ko-yin and Sze Wui, with seven hundred bags of rice for distribution to the inhabitants of the affected districts.

DAGGERS DRAWN.

FOREIGN WOMEN AT LAW.

A squabble between two foreign women was heard in the Police Court, this afternoon, when they proceeded against each other for using abusive language. The complainant is a married woman; the defendant a young girl.

Mr. Otto Krong Sieg appeared for the complainant. Mr. Rader Harris defended. The complainant said that she lived on the 1st floor of a house in Chancery Lane, the defendant occupying the ground floor. Some two or three months ago she had occasion to complain to the Sanitary Board regarding a nuisance which she alleged defendant created. Since that time defendant had been very abusive. Every time she saw complainant she used indecent language. About the 7th instant complainant returned home with her cousin in the afternoon. Witness started to ascend the staircase leading to her floor, when witness called a her foul name, and continued it for three hours. Complainant paid no attention. On the following day defendant was again abusive. Complainant did not answer. Defendant called complainant out for a fight, saying that she had "$50 to throw away in fines."

Cross-examined, complainant said that her husband was in Australia. The name she gave to the Court was her maiden name. It was not a fact that once she was going to be god-mother to a girl, and that the priest had refused her. She did not accuse the defendant of writing to the priest's slandering her. She never accused the defendant of improper conduct. Another witness, a man, said that the trouble was caused by three women, but defendant was the worst of all.

The defendant then told her story. She said that it was the other party who was the cause of the trouble. Complainant, she said, accused her of being on friendly terms with one of her male friends, and had accused her of writing to the priest's slandering her. The trouble first started after defendant had returned from Church on the 7th.

The magistrate (Mr. Hazeland) found that both parties were to blame. In order to prevent any further trouble he bound them over in the sum of $100 each to keep the peace for six months.

OUR TELEPHONE AND ELECTRIC SERVICE.

[To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph."]

Sir,—May I through the columns of your valuable paper bring the public attention to a glaring fault which exists in two of our foremost industrial institutions? I refer to the periodical failure of the electric current supplied to the various offices in the Colony, and the incapacity of some of the Chinese telephone operators who are apparently left in charge of the instruments after 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when the European staff of the establishment have all left. Last evening, there was a sudden stoppage of the electric current in my office. Now this is a frequent source of annoyance to those offices which keep late hours and was therefore a matter of no great surprise. I of course at once communicated to headquarters in the hope of putting matters right, but things were not particularly facilitated by a leisurely telephone operator, who evidently does not believe in appearing on the telephone unless rung for about half-a-dozen times, and that extra violently. Of course, these tardy proceedings dislocated some very important business for a considerable time, which is sufficiently exasperating to make the most saintly individual to use words which are not exactly printable. Now no sane man will question the likelihood of the electric light occasionally failing through no fault of the employees, but it is to be trusted that the occasional breakdowns will not be too frequent regularly lest it be construed as a reflection on the efficiency of those concerned.—Yours, etc.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

RICKSHA COOLIES FOUND GUILTY.

Before the Chief Justice (Sir Francis Piggott) and a jury at the Criminal Sessions, this morning, two ricksha coolies, Tsang Kwai and Ho Tsung Sang, were charged with robbing three men of $681 in Des Voeux Road West early in May last.

The Attorney-General, Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., instructed by Mr. Dennis, who appeared for the Crown, said that the prisoners were charged with robbing a large sum of money from three Hok-lo cattle-dealers under the following circumstances:—It would seem that on the 5th May last three men came down from the Shan Mo village, bringing with them fourteen head of cattle. They sold the beasts in Hongkong for some $700. The next thing they did was to go to a money-changer's shop in Queen's Road and have the notes changed into subsidiary coins. As they were on their way to catch the Shan Mo launch the next morning the cattle dealers were accosted by three men, of whom the accused were alleged to be two. The men were accused of being in possession of illicit opium. The cattleman, who was carrying the sack of money, dropped it, and ran away. One of the robbers picked up the sack and made for a ricksha, while the two others attacked the cattle dealers with iron bars. Having accomplished their object they ran to the ricksha. One man got between the shafts, the man with the money got into the vehicle while the third man pushed behind, and in this way they got away. The accused were arrested later, but the third man had not been seen since. The first accused was recognised by all of the cattle dealers as having taken a part in the robbery. The second defendant, however, could only be recognised by two of the men. When they were arrested $100 in notes were found in one of the defendant's boxes, and it was suggested that soon after the robbery the accused had portions of the subsidiary coins changed into notes. It was a very clever robbery, Sir Henry remarked, and the question to be decided by the jury was whether the prisoners had taken any part in the affair.

Evidence was called to support the above-mentioned narrative.

The prisoners denied having had any connection in the matter. They were found guilty, however, and the Chief Justice passed sentence of four years' hard labour on the first man. The second man got two years' imprisonment.

OFFICIAL FIGURES OF THE WORLD'S NAVIES.

Official statistics—the first available since the "Dike Return" of last year—were issued by the Admiralty on 14th ult. of the comparative strength in various classes of ships of the fleets of the leading naval Powers—taking only the vessels which are less than 20 years old.

The new return, like last year's, is issued at the request of Sir Charles Dike. It gives particulars, as far as the Admiralty can ascertain, of every war vessel within the age limit mentioned in the service of Great Britain, France, Russia, Germany, Italy, the United States, and Japan. The return enumerates all battleships and armoured cruisers launched since 31 March, 1889, and all other classes which still retain their armaments and are not for sale.

The following are the chief groups of figures:

BATTLESHIPS.		Building.
Great Britain	53	6
Germany	32	10
United States	26	6
France	18	6
Japan	14	4

Russia	7	8

Armoured Cruisers.		Building.
Great Britain	38	2
France	10	2
United States	15	nil
Japan	11	2

Of protected cruisers of all classes Great Britain has 74 built and 5 building. Germany has 33 built and 7 building.

Of unprotected cruisers Great Britain possesses none and is building 3; Germany has 14, and the United States 10 (of which 5 are converted "merchant ships"). None of the Powers is building coast defence ships; of those built, Germany and the United States have 11 each, France 10, Great Britain none.

Great Britain has 13 torpedo vessels against Germany's 11; of the more modern "destroyers" she has 146 against Germany's 73, and is building 25 against 24. Members are requested to note that it is proposed to hold the annual camp for the Artillery, Engineer and Infantry companies this year in the New Territories from Saturday, 13th November, to Monday, 22nd November. As the distance from Hongkong will be too great for members to go to and fro daily all employers have been asked to grant leave of absence to those of their employees who are Volunteers to enable them to attend camp. In those cases where employers are unable to grant leave for the whole week they have been asked to do so for either the first or second half of the week. Members are requested to apply for leave in good time and it is hoped that all who can obtain leave for the week will do so and attend camp the whole period and that the remainder will obtain leave and attend camp for one-half of the week and both week-ends.

The work to be performed in camp will be specially interesting and, provided sufficient numbers attend, most instructive.

The Artillery companies will each day carry out some tactical scheme with the mountain guns and mules, and also with the howitzers, or night tripods in lieu; and with Maxim guns.

The Engineer and Infantry companies will be able in addition to other work to carry out field firing.
